

The State of Diversity at Public Company Boards

In this podcast with the CFA Institute “A Sustainability Story” series, Deborah Gilshan is interviewed by Matt Orsagh, Senior Director, Capital Markets Policy at the CFA Institute.

In the podcast, Deborah notes that at the current pace, it will take 257 years to achieve global economic gender parity and stresses the need for urgency. She discusses how diversity at companies, on board and in management can act as a catalyst to achieve needed change at a more rapid pace.

Please click on this link to access the podcast: The Sustainability Story: The State of Diversity at Public Companies and Boards \(libsyn.com\)