Introduction

Cassandra Lichnock, Chief Executive Officer, CalSTRS

I am pleased to introduce the CalSTRS 2022–25 Strategic Plan—a bold and clear strategy that outlines our intentional focus about where CalSTRS is going and how we'll get there.

Our strategic plan is the product of more than a year of rigorous research, environmental scans including a stakeholder survey, and intensive discussions between executive staff and the board. The process compels us to look ahead 10 years into the future to establish a vision for success. The plan serves as an important connecting point as we move the organization forward.

Through our 2019–22 Strategic Plan, we dedicated significant effort and resources to several multiyear initiatives. We've been building the technical and digital competencies necessary to operate more effectively and efficiently with our customers—our members and employers. We started on our path to manage more assets in-house to optimize investment performance and save costs. We're expanding our headquarters to accommodate the change to our workforce anticipated as a result of our new technical, digital and investment capabilities.

In 10 years,
we will be known as trusted stewards, innovators who adeptly manage change, and a sustainable pension organization.

Cassandra Lichnock

Our progress has been steady, even in this time of unprecedented change. The COVID-19 pandemic presented challenges to our members, employers and internal operations. I am proud of the way our staff responded. They continued to serve customers with enthusiasm, dedication and teamwork. Our collective ability to collaborate in new ways, to thrive in evolving markets and to leverage new technologies creates exciting new opportunities that can become part of who we are and how we operate as an organization going forward. Our board has provided the resolve and steadfast leadership needed to govern through change and beyond.

These traits will serve us well. In our world, change is the only constant, and the pace of change continues to accelerate. Yet, one element that does not change is CalSTRS' commitment to our core values of Customer Service, Accountability, Leadership, Strength, Trust, Respect and Stewardship. These beliefs define us and are the principles that guide everything we do.

We have been charged with ensuring that CalSTRS is here to secure the retirement of California's educators for centuries to come, serving as a model, world-class pension system. This means balancing all the elements that have been essential to making CalSTRS exceptional in the past while anticipating those that the future will demand to sustain that level of excellence and achieve even greater heights.

We know that how people live, work, interact, communicate and experience retirement is in flux. This 2022-25 Strategic Plan serves as the blueprint for CalSTRS' continued evolution into this decade and beyond as we strive to actualize our future vision. In 10 years, we will be known as trusted stewards, innovators who adeptly manage change, and a sustainable pension organization. We will realize this lofty 10-year vision over the next three strategic plan cycles.

Strategic Plan cycles

Our 2022-25 Strategic Plan is primarily characterized by assessing organizational readiness and building capabilities. The plan reaffirms our commitment to sustaining the trust of California's educators as we focus on plan funding and evolve the customer experience by creating greater efficiencies. We will build capacity and increase resiliency through shared and collaborative services. We will inspire greater innovation throughout the organization while supporting a cost-conscious culture and creating long-term value through our sustainable investment beliefs.

With this strategic plan, we deepen our commitment to being a sustainable organization. This means maturing as a destination employer, cultivating internal talent and prioritizing equity, diversity and inclusion in the workplace. Our belief is that without equity, efforts to promote diversity and inclusion are commendable, but not sustainable. This plan paves the way for creating an intentional and sustainable cultural shift that demonstrates our commitment and dedication to supporting diversity and ethical principles throughout the organization and the Teachers' Retirement Board.

To capitalize on today's greatest changes and deliver in the best interests of our members, innovation is more essential than ever. It is important to improve our operations and services, and we must develop and execute a successful long-term strategy. As we embrace a tradition of leadership and continuous improvement, we do so with an intention of integrating environmental, social and governance principles throughout the organization.

Guided by this document, the executive staff will develop and implement annual business plans outlining specific activities to accomplish the 2022-25 strategic plan goals and objectives. We will assess the effectiveness of our actions against these strategies quarterly and through the annual Strategic Plan Accomplishments Report.

There has never been a more critical time to plan for the future and to set an aspirational course that ensures continued success for years to come. This plan presents our pathway forward. I invite you to join us with your support.

Respectfully,

Cassandra Lichnock
Chief Executive Officer, CalSTRS
